Wellsville Elementary students win VCR by recycling

'Don't throw that away! We can recycle it. Maybe we'll win a VCR.'

Such comments were heard in the cafeteria, in classrooms, and in homes of the students and staff of Wellsville Elementary School, Wellsville, Pa. During the past four weeks, students, teachers, staff, parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles have been saving plastic containers for a project for Earth Day. It was taken on by the school as an awareness project for Earth Day.

The school decided to recycle plastic because it is lightweight, easy for students to carry to school, and relatively safe. The recycling of plastic was also done because of a contest being promoted by Waste Management of York, Pa. The contest stated that whatever school brought in to Waste Management the most pounds of plastic would win a $300.00 VCR. Each school to bring in their plastic recyclables would be given a tree.

Friday, April 20th, was the last day that students could bring in plastics. On that day, the fifth graders at Wellsville Elementary carried the many bags and bags of plastics to the school yard for all students to see the amount of recyclables NOT TRASH at one student said, which the school collected. They were amazed at the sight of so much plastic, which the students knew will not be trashed, but will be recycled.

The total weight of collected plastic was 640 pounds. With the money that was earned from the plastic, and with the generosity of the PTO each child and staff member was given a white pine seedling from Strathmayer Nursing to take home on April 20th. They were instructed to plant their trees on Earth Day. Each student has been encouraged to take an Earth Day Pledge and recycle and to encourage others to do the same for the Health of our Earth.

The 640 pounds of plastic was the greatest weight taken to Waste Management by 2 area elementary middle and high schools. Wellsville is proud to be the winner of a new VCR.

Thank you Recycle America, a division of Waste Management of York.
